

Basic Life Support (BLS) Demonstration

The Department of Physiology conducted a Basic Life Support (BLS) demonstration for First MBBS students, integrating faculty expertise with certified audio-visual aids. Held in a simulated environment using mannequins, the session highlighted key emergency procedures including recognition of emergencies, effective chest compressions, and rescue breathing—promoting early awareness and preparedness in life-saving care.

